QUARTERLY REFERENCE · Q3 2026

What commercial money actually costs.

Indicative financing structures by asset class — one page, updated quarterly. Orientation for pricing conversations, not an offer.

Asset class / program	Indicative rate	Max LTV	Notes
Multifamily — $6M+	5.55–6.00% (5–10yr fixed)	80%	Best execution in the market; up to 30yr am
Multifamily — $1.5–6M	5.93–6.25%	80%	Small-balance programs
Industrial	from ~6.65%	75%	Strongest demand of the majors
Retail / shopping centers	from ~6.65%	75%	Tenancy quality drives pricing
Office	from ~6.65%	70–75%	Underwritten conservatively; story matters
CMBS (10yr, non-recourse)	6.48–7.26%	75%	$2M+; interest-only available
Bridge / value-add	from ~9.00%	80% (of cost)	Speed & flexibility premium; 12–36 months
Construction	case-by-case	65–75% LTC	Experience & pre-leasing drive terms
SBA 504 (owner-occupied)	from ~5.95% (CDC fixed)	90%	Business must occupy 51%+
SBA 7(a) (owner-occupied)	from ~6.75%	90%	Flexible use of proceeds
DSCR (1–4 unit rentals)	5.80–8.50% by LTV	75–80%	No income verification; $100K–$5M+

The quarter in three sentences

Multifamily remains the best bid, with fixed-rate money in the mid-5s for larger assets. Industrial and retail hold steady in the mid-6s while office still prices with a story discount. Bridge capital is available but expensive — if your business plan can wait for permanent money, the spread says wait.

What underwriting actually looks at — before pricing

- In-place cash flow — trailing twelve months, not the pro forma
- Debt yield and DSCR — the coverage math sets leverage before LTV does
- Sponsor track record — done this asset type, this size, before?
- Basis — what you're into it for vs. the market; protects everyone downside
- Exit — refinance or sale, and does the math still work at higher rates?
